Holocaust trains were railway transports run by the Deutsche Reichsbahn national railway system under the strict supervision of the German Nazis and their allies, for the purpose of forcible deportation of the Jews, as well as other victims of the Holocaust, to the German Nazi concentration, forced labour, and extermination camps.. Modern historians suggest that without the mass transportation ...

The Holocaust, also referred to as the Shoah, was a genocide during World War II in which Nazi Germany, aided by its collaborators, systematically murdered some six million European Jews, around two-thirds of the Jewish population of Europe, between 1941 and 1945. Jews were targeted for extermination as part of a larger event involving the persecution and murder of other groups, including in ...

INTRODUCTION. The Holocaust, the Nazi-German annihilation of European Jewry during World War II (1939â€“1945), is unarguably one of the most destructive and murderous events in the history of human civilization (1â€“17). However, over the last 70 years, genocides and mass killing events have continued to occur and they are not diminishing in frequency (18, 19).
